Dainty Anita Stewart in New Drama at Majestic

"Her Kingdom of Dreams" With All-Star
Cast To Be Shown Four Days.

Winsome and dainty Anita Stewart, the star in many excellent film vehicles, will return for a four days' engagement at the Majestic theater, starting Sunday. Miss Stewart's latest vehicle is "Her Kingdom of Dreams," and it is declared to be entitled to the distinction of being termed "the perfect picture."

One of the most notable casts ever assembled for a picture is to be found in "Her Kingdom of Dreams," and the picture has the able and artistic direction of Marshall Neilan.

Stung by the attempts of a designing woman to shift the eyes of her husband, Miss Stewart in the role of Judith Rutledge, signs over a three-million-dollar estate to her father in "Her Kingdom of Dreams."

As Judith Rutledge, Miss Stewart depicts one of the most admirable of all characters portrayed during her screen career. First as a country girl, with an insatiable longing for the life of the large cities and next as the private secretary to the Wall Street power, James Warren, she gives opportunity to extend her character portrayal ability to the utmost.

Probably the most auspicious cast ever assembled for the production of one motion picture was brought together by Director Marshall Neilan for "Her Kingdom of Dreams." Among those who appear in the cast are: Tully Marshall, Anna Q. Nilsson, Kathleen Williams, W. H. Barry, Robert Graves, W. H. Barry, Thomas Holding and Edwin B. Tilton.

The theme of the story centers about the work of an unsophisticated country girl whose loyalty to her employer prompts her to ask her to marry his rather irresponsible son. The marriage, thought to be entirely loveless at first, develops into a husband-and-wife devotion that saves a tremendous industry, the reputation of Fred Warren and Judith's happiness.

"John Petticoats" With Wm. Hart Plays Strand

Scenes Are Laid in New Orleans and Story Gives Star New Role.

William S. Hart and his company of players invaded quaint New Orleans to make scenes for his latest Paramount-Artcraft picture, "John Petticoats," produced under Thos. H. Ince's supervision, which is to be the attraction at the Strand theater for four days, beginning Sunday.

Several episodes for the picture were "shot" in the business section of the city and also in the old Creole quarter and along the river front. It marks one of the few times that Mr. Hart has appeared in anything but strictly Western roles.

According to the story, he starts out as a lumberjack in the North forests, but inherits a modiste's shop in a fashionable district of New Orleans and goes there to investigate his property.

The presence of the rough Westerner among the frills and satins is said to be productive of rich comedy, while his later adventures in following a young society for clearing up the suicide of a beautiful young girl and winning the heart of another are declared to furnish a gripping story.

"I believe the motion picture public likes to see a different leading woman play opposite a well-known actor in every picture he makes," said William S. Hart recently, "if for no other reason than to see how they look together. I have made love to Jane Novak, Ann Little, Eileen Percy, and practically every other prominent leading woman on the screen, and I believe moviegoers like the variety. I'll admit I do myself."

True to his idea, Mr. Hart appears with a new leading lady in "John Petticoats." She is Winifred Westover—and a pippin.

"Everywoman" Is Now Picturized

Billed as the "picture supreme," Walter Browne's famous classic of the legitimate stage, "Everywoman," soon is to be shown in Memphis for a week's engagement.

Announcement of the booking of this super-production, which is at once a fashion show, a morality play and an ocean liner, Farnum gives one of the most brilliant and dramatic portrayals of his career. The story is of an English army officer stationed at Singapore, who, wrongly accused by his colonel's wife of a court-martial and dismissed, becomes a sailor, is cast upon an uncharted island after the boat has been wrecked, but he has succeeded in rescuing the daughter of the ship's owner. Their stay on the island until their rescue is filled with thrilling episodes. The picture was directed by J. Gordon Edwards.

Farnum Stars In Sea Story

One of the most graphic sea stories ever shown on the silver sheet will be seen for the first time at Lewis's Lyceum Sunday as the film adjunct to an all-star vaudeville show. It is "Vings of the Morning," picturized from Louis T. T. Noel, with William Farnum in the lead.

As Capt. Anstruther, of the British army, and later a sailor aboard a sea liner, Farnum gives one of the most brilliant and dramatic portrayals of his career. The story is of an English army officer stationed at Singapore, who, wrongly accused by his colonel's wife of a court-martial and dismissed, becomes a sailor, is cast upon an uncharted island after the boat has been wrecked, but he has succeeded in rescuing the daughter of the ship's owner. Their stay on the island until their rescue is filled with thrilling episodes. The picture was directed by J. Gordon Edwards.

SUFFRAGISTS GO TO MISSISSIPPI

National Association Will Be on Hand With Delegation to Work for Ratification.

JACKSON, Miss., Dec. 6. (Sp.)—The National Woman's Suffrage association will send a corps of its ablest workers to Mississippi to labor in behalf of the Susan B. Anthony amendment at the January session of the legislature, according to an announcement made today by the state leaders.

Several of the workers have already arrived and are busily engaged with the preliminary features of the campaign.

There will be no militant feature of the fight. It is being planned along sane and conservative lines, devoid of all spectacular features. The suffragists will endeavor to appeal to the reason of the lawmakers.

The members of the Mississippi legislature that in opposing suffrage for women they are merely butting their heads against the inevitable fact that the amendment has been ratified by 12 states. This means that when 17 other states fall in line the amendment will become operative.

A sufficient number of legislative bodies will meet between this date and the presidential election to secure the number we need.

"Naturally, we want to see Mississippi fall in line. Ours was the first state to give equal property rights to women, and should be among those willing to give women full citizenship."

"Efficient states of the union have already given full suffrage to their women and in 29 states women have presidential suffrage. To persons who reach the signs of the times might as well deny the assertion that full suffrage for women throughout the United States is inevitable."

"We do not believe the men of Mississippi are going to be backward in this matter, nor are they going to attach any seriousness to alleged local or constitutional objections."

The argument being advanced that the adoption of the amendment might cause women to go to the polls is all nonsense. If the men of Mississippi have been able to eliminate the negro men from participation in political affairs, I am quite sure that the combined efforts of our men and women can keep negro women from the polls."

The suffrage leaders are preparing to make a square, clean-cut fight, devoid of any hysteria. Word has been sent to the National Woman's party, the militant suffragist organization, that its assistance is not desired, and any representatives of that party appear on the scene during the legislative fight they will be promptly notified that they are not welcome.

COTTON SUCCESSFUL NEAR MANCHESTER

MANCHESTER, Tenn., Dec. 6. (Sp.)—A new bank will be established and in operation here by the first of the year. Arthur Kay, of Nashville, will be the cashier. The bank has purchased the furniture and fixtures of the old bank from the Citizens' Bank and Trust company of Manchester, and will occupy the same building that was occupied by the former institution.

It is probable that within a few years cotton will be one of the principal crops grown in some districts of the county. Several neighboring counties have been raising cotton at a profit for a number of years.

LLOYD GEORGE REJECTS PARTY RESTORATION

MANCHESTER, England, Dec. 6.—Premier Lloyd George, speaking before the Reform club today, totally rejected the suggestion that the time had arrived for a renewal of party distinctions by the liberals and conservatives.

GOES TO WASHINGTON.

SENATORIA, Miss., Dec. 6. (Sp.)—Miss Marie Herring, accompanied by Miss Sule V. Powell, state economic agent, left today for Washington. Miss Herring is a member of the senior class at the county agricultural high school. She won this trip to Washington for having the best display of poultry at the state fair. The prize was offered by J. T. Thomas, of Grenada. Miss Herring made a clear profit this year of $522.33 on her flock of Plymouth Rock chickens. She did her work under the directions of the home economics agent.

SENATORIA LIGHTED.

SENATORIA, Miss., Dec. 6. (Sp.)—The electric line between here and Coldwater was finished this week and the lights were out on at Coldwater today. The Senatoria municipal electric plant now furnishes lights for the town, the county agricultural college and the town of Coldwater. New machinery has just been installed. The town's water supply is also furnished from this plant and last week the taxpayers voted a bond to install a complete sewerage system.

HAVE SOFT, DARK LONG HAIR

Don't Be Gray. It's Unnecessary Now.
Q-Ban Restores Color. Read
How. Something New and Harmless.

Every man or woman should, by right, have soft, dark, handsome, lustrous hair—thick and beautiful. The charm of soft, dark hair is continued fascination, while gray, faded, thin or falling hair puts you in the old-age class. You can't afford to let your hair turn gray. Q-Ban (pronounced Cu-Ban) restores your hair to its original color and texture. It is a scientific preparation in different from anything else—a clean, harmless liquid, not sticky and messy—that nourishes the hair roots, causing all your gray, faded, thin or falling hair to turn dark, lustrous, long, soft, thick and radiantly beautiful, just as you like to have your hair. Q-Ban is successfully used daily by thousands of men and women. It is the trade name of this superior hair color restorer, and should be used in preference to any other hair restorer because it is as harmless as pure water and is guaranteed to restore original color to faded or faded or gray hair. Try it. Ask any druggist for a bottle of Q-Ban (Cu-Ban) and simple directions with each bottle.

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

It's Easy—If You Know Dr.
Edwards' Olive Tablets

The secret of keeping young is to feed young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver. Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action yet always effective. They bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 10c and 25c.

Charlie Chaplin And Tom Mix on

Bill at Princess

"The Fireman" and "The Heart of Texas Ryan" Will Be Dual Bill.

Charlie Chaplin and Tom Mix! Sounds like one of those bills you just can't stay away from. It is the combination offering for the Princess theater for three days of the coming week, starting Sunday afternoon.

Chaplin will be featured in one of his famous comedies which has been revamped for presentation at the present time and Tom Mix, known as the foremost daredevil of the screen, will be featured in a Western play, "The Heart of Texas Ryan."

Chaplin has made several really good comedies and one of these is "The Fireman." What he does in this comedy is sufficiently funny to make anyone laugh.

Tom Mix in "The Heart of Texas Ryan" achieves one of his best interpretations of Western types and a strong supporting cast has been given him for this production.

House Peters is being presented today only in "You Never Know Your Luck."

Billie Burke Is Star in Comedy

A colonel and a captain figure prominently in Billie Burke's new Paramount-Artcraft photoplay, "The Misleading Widow," which will be on view the Savoy theater Sunday only, but the story hasn't a thing to do with the war. On the contrary, it is a delightful screen romance as has ever captivated an audience.

Miss Burke is the charming Mrs. Betty Taradine, who is popular with all the folks in the little New England village or country where she lives, except an old maid, who wonders what has been keeping her so long.

Mr. Taradine is a widower and has several children, and she is a widow and has several children, and she is a widow and has several children.

To push up the insistent demands of these latter, Betty announces that her husband, who left her many years previously, is dead, hoping to collect his insurance. But Friend Husband isn't disposed to pass away so easily and shows up in the person of Captain Rymill, U. S. A. Whereupon Mrs. Betty is much put out, and complications ensue thick and fast. How they are finally straightened out is too good to give away. One must see the picture.

Conrad's Sea Story Filmed

The man who translated Maeterlinck to the screen in "The Blue Bird" has accomplished the even more difficult task of picturizing "Victory," the famous novel of Joseph Conrad. The latest evidence of Maurice Tourneur's unerring skill is to be shown this week at the Majestic theater, starting Thursday.

"Conrad fans" are notoriously jealous of their favorite's marvelous gift of description and his ability to transfer the scene in all its varying moods to the printed page. They need have no misgivings about any marring of Conrad's masterpiece in its transition into screen form.

Mr. Tourneur has made of Conrad's wonderful novel a wonderful picture. He has retained all the fierce passions, the savage conflict, and the salty tang of the South seas which flavored the book and embodied them into a picture replete with thrilling action.

In the cast are such well-known players as Jack Holt, Seena Owen, Bull Montana and Wallace Beery. It is a Paramount-Artcraft picture.

Shocking!

She shocked the town. Really she did! Here she was, a young and charming widow, entertaining two men in her home! And unchaperoned, too! But who do you suppose one of the men was? And what do you suppose the other man did? Scandal? Better come and see it.
